About the Seminar

GREEN AND CLEAN ENVIRONMENT: INITIATIVES AND CHALLENGES

On earth, there are humans, animals, plants, water, land, and other things. Our planet is the only place on the globe where living things can survive. Numerous negative effects, including increased environmental degradation, climate change, and the depletion and loss of natural resources, are brought on by the rapid processes of globalization in both the natural environment and society. The air quality is unbreathable, due to drinking water is scarce, and the land is contaminated, extreme use of plastic, resulting in numerous diseases. These practices harm people's quality of life, put their health (and even their lives) in jeopardy, and breach their social rights to a safe, healthy environment. It is extremely difficult to protect residents' rights to a clean environment due to the influence of these processes. So, it is our duty to get out of these conditions and save our earth.

A clean and green environment implies a lack of pollution and a higher standard of living. The definition of green clean is to use methods and products with environment friendly ingredients and procedures to preserve human health and the environment. Our goal is to improve the habitat's health, cleanliness, and greenness. A real planning and implementation strategy is needed for this, coupled with a lot of public support. Slogans are good to attract people and remind them regarding their duty towards saving first the earth and second the human lives thereon. We can save earth by reusing, reducing, and recycling wastes. Man has the ability to protect the earth.

Keeping in mind these facts, this present one-day national seminar intends to bring together many stakeholders on a platform to discuss the results of their initiatives, plans, gaps, and solutions to truly improve the health and livability of our environment.
